LISTENER GUIDE

How to Start the 119 Bible Bootcamp

Fall in love with Scripture—one small step at a time.

Hey there, friend, and welcome!
If you've ever felt overwhelmed by Bible study or unsure how to begin, you're not alone—and you're in the right place.

The 119 Bible Bootcamp was created to walk with you step by step, helping you build a devotional rhythm that fits your real life. Whether you're brand new to Scripture or simply longing to reconnect with it in a fresh way, this series is here to help you fall in love with God's Word again.

No pressure. No perfection.
Just simple, grace-filled steps and tools that help you study the Bible in ways that are actually doable.

What is the 119 Bible Bootcamp?

It's a weekly podcast + YouTube series filled with:

- Biblical foundations and context
- Practical tools and study methods
- Encouragement to keep going when you feel stuck
- Creative ways to engage with Scripture
- And most importantly—reminders of how deeply God wants to meet with you in His Word

Each episode is helpful, grace-filled, and designed to stand on its own—while gently building toward a deeper love for Scripture. Think of it like a treasure map: follow the clue that feels like treasure right now.

FAQs About the Bootcamp

Do I need anything to get started?
Just your Bible—and maybe a journal if you like taking notes. I'll guide you through the rest.

Is this a devotional or a course?
It's a little of both. Think of it as a flexible, DIY Bible study journey with short teachings, tools to try, and reflection prompts along the way.

What if I fall behind?
There's no such thing as behind here. All episodes remain available. You can go at your own pace and return anytime.

A Final Word

I believe—with all my heart—that God wants to meet you right where you are. Not once you've figured it all out. Not when you've got perfect habits.

Right here. Right now.

If your heart is saying, "I want to love the Bible but I don't know how..."

Let this be your gentle nudge to begin.
